At the Firm at Bridgewater State College's Moakley Center we believe in making every advertising dollar an investment. If a marketing piece doesn't reach your target audience, doesn't give them the information they need, doesn't call them to act, then it's not worth the money spent to produce it.

That's why we combine sound marketing tools and techniques, advertising savvy, and dynamite design to create unforgettable images that get you noticed...and that gives you more time to focus on your forte — running your business. So, harness the power of thought. Whether it's web design or corporate identity pieces, you could have a team of graphic artists and programmers with backgrounds in sales, marketing, writing, and programming, show you the "storm" in "brainstorm." We can take any project from concept to finished piece, make your fully-fleshed ideas happen, or anything in between.

Our creative team can create powerful illustrations and layouts; can tackle logo design and corporate identity pieces with ease; unify a company's look and feel with aplomb; photograph any subject including 360° panoramas shots on or off-site; photo-edit any photo for optimal quality; develop dramatic digital images; and the list goes on. If you find you need a service that isn't listed here, please ask—we can likely help you.

The Firm's web services division, can handle most any web project, from a simple Internet presence or informational page to a large, enterprise-level site. Our web professionals can handle the design and coding required to create an eye-catching front end and usable user interface. We can also create Flash animations to capture your visitors' attentions, and interactive tours to showcase your wares and services. Additionally, we perform search engine submission and optimization to ensure that when potential clients come looking, they find you first.

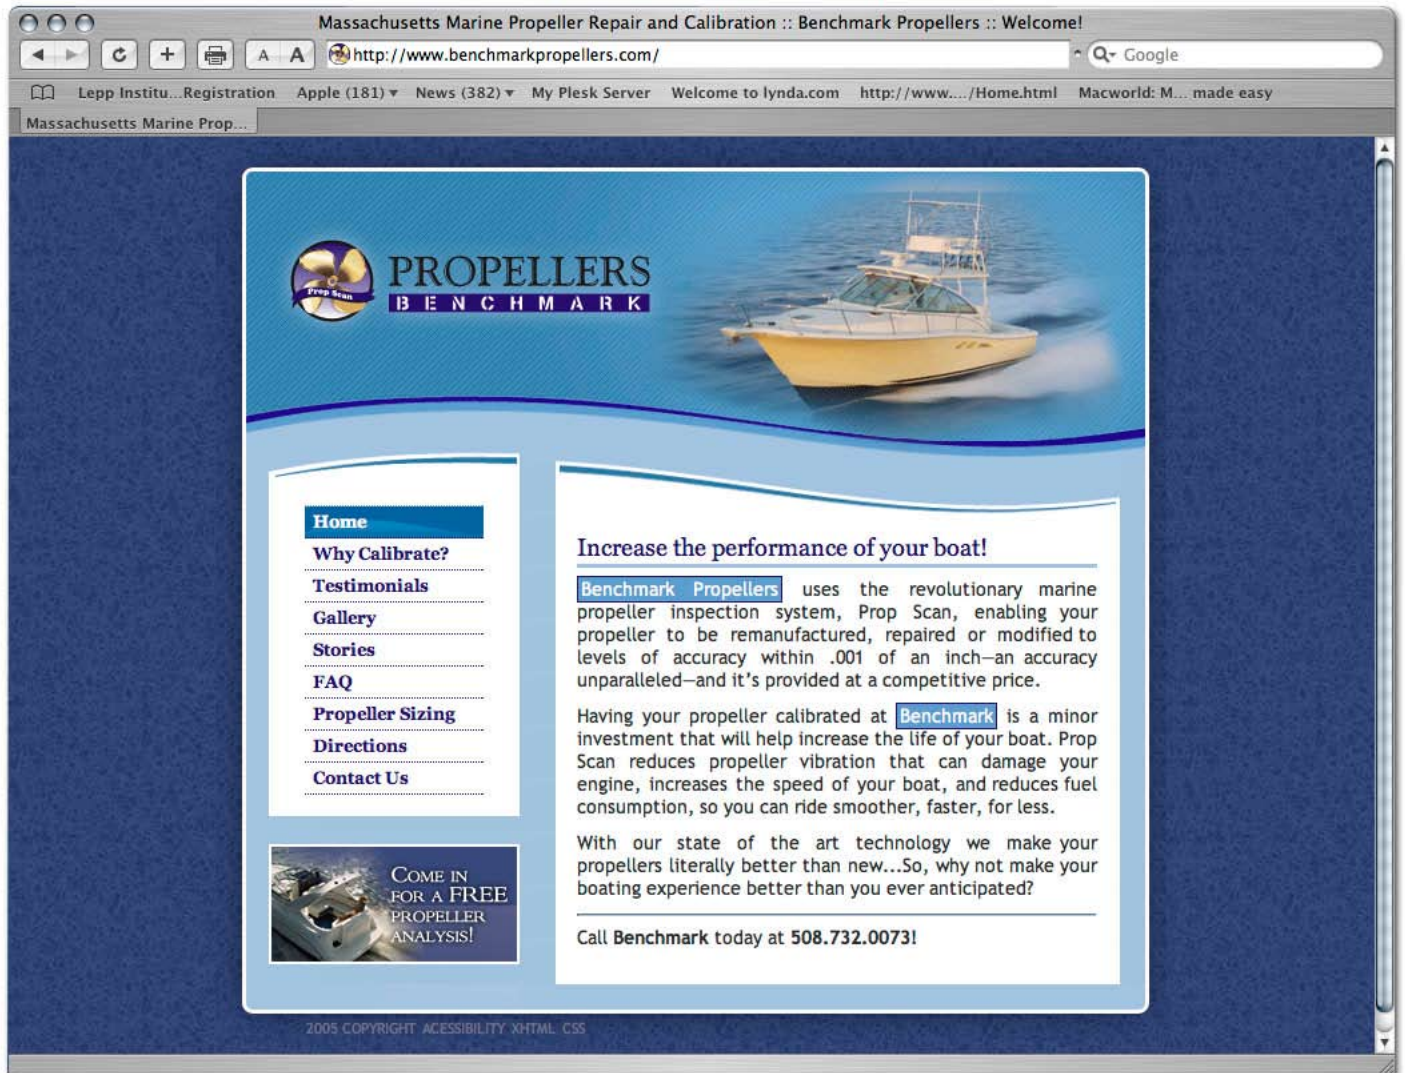

So, let's face it...effective advertising is essential for any business to succeed, but it should be developed by professionals who possess the knowledge, talent and experience. At the Firm we have Senior and Junior designers, Art Directors and tons of creative, fresh ideas for your company. Call us today at 508.531.6145
